

NextGen Charge Review Rules Engine

Reduce denials, boost clean claims, and reduce team workloads

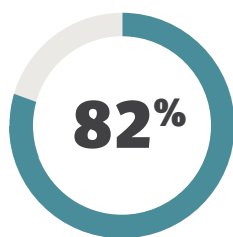

NextGen® Charge Review Rules Engine combines custom, specialty-specific rules with intelligent automation to review and correct charge data from your EHR before passing it to your practice management (PM) system. As a result, you can reduce your practice's operating costs, capture missed revenue, and accelerate insurance payments.

Measurable impact—blazing fast

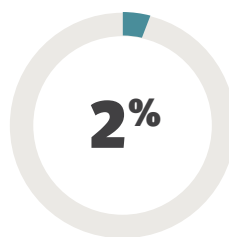

The Charge Review Rules Engine integrates directly into your EHR & PM system while allowing you to retain complete control over your workflow setup. Built-in rules reduce time to value, and live onboarding with real-time support means you will be up, running, and generating clean claims in no time.

How it works

Once charges move into the Pending Charges Table, the rules engine automatically reviews every charge to ensure coding accuracy. If coding discrepancies are not detected, the charges pass immediately to your PM system.

If a charge error is identified, two things can happen:

1. If the error is a routine data quality issue, the rules engine can automatically correct the error
2. If the error needs a more in-depth review, the charge is automatically sent to a biller/coder for resolution

Fewer denials, cleaner claims, no additional staffing

By bringing on Charge Review Rules Engine, you enable your practice to reduce the cost to collect, improve cash flow predictability, and scale operations without adding any staffing. This alleviates existing staff by eliminating repetitive edit tasks and freeing them up for more strategic work.

“I would definitely recommend working with the NextGen Charge Review Rules Engine to anyone who wants to reduce manual processes and improve their rejection rates. PCLI normally operates at a high standard; we are always looking to improve and be the best we can be, and the Charge Review Rules Engine helped us achieve that.”
